

The Seed

Once upon a time, there was a tiny seed.
It was so small you could hardly see it!

One day, the seed felt the warmth of the sun and the water of the rain.
“What’s happening?” it wondered.
And suddenly… it began to grow!

First, the roots came out.
They were long and thin, searching for water and food in the soil.

Then, a stem appeared.
It was strong and straight, lifting the seed upward.

Little by little, the leaves appeared.
They were green and soft, and they helped the plant make food using sunlight.

And one fine day… a beautiful flower bloomed!
All the colors of the sun and sky shone in the flower.

The seed, which had grown into a plant, smiled happily.
And so, little by little, a seed can do great things!
